IF YOU WERE PARTY TO A CONTRACT WITH A SPRINT NEXTEL ETF, A CLASS ACTION SETTLEMENT COULD AFFECT YOUR RIGHTS

A proposed national settlement has been reached in a class action proceeding alleging that Sprint Nextel's flat-rate early termination fee ("ETF") violates state and federal law. The case is entitled, Larson, et al. v. Sprint Nextel Corporation, et al., Civ. Action No. 2:07-cv-05325 (JLL-ES) (the "Action"). The agreement is embodied in a Stipulation and Settlement Agreement (the "Agreement"). Defined terms in this notice have the same meaning as that set forth in the Agreement. A copy of this Agreement is posted on the Settlement Administrator's website ( ). If you are or have been a party to a term contract with a flat-rate ETF on a Sprint Nextel personal account, you may be a member of the Settlement Class whose rights are affected by this settlement.

The Settlement Class is defined as:

> All Persons in the United States who are or were parties to a personal fixed-term subscriber agreement for a Sprint Nextel Wireless Service Account for personal or mixed business/personal use, whether on the Sprint CDMA network or Nextel iDEN network, or both, excluding accounts for which the responsible party for the Wireless Service Account is a business, corporation or a governmental entity, entered into between July 1, 1999 and December 31, 2008 and whose claims relate in any way to an Early Termination Fee or use of an Early Termination Fee in a fixed-term subscriber agreement, and/or use or propriety of a fixed-term subscriber agreement whether the term was for the initial fixed-term subscriber agreement or subsequent extensions or renewals to the fixed-term subscriber agreement for whatever reason and/or who were charged by or paid an Early Termination Fee to Sprint Nextel, excluding only the Ayyad Class Claims and Persons whose right to sue Sprint Nextel as a Settlement Class Member is otherwise barred by a prior settlement agreement and/or prior final adjudication on the merits. The Settlement Class includes Persons who were subject to an ETF, whether or not they paid any portion of the ETF either to Sprint Nextel or to any outside collection agency or at all, and includes persons who are prosecuting excluded claims to the extent such persons have claims other than those expressly excluded.

TERMS OF THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

Sprint Nextel has agreed to pay $14 million into a Common Fund. Cash Benefits from the Common Fund shall be distributed to the settlement benefit rules in the Agreement. Sprint Nextel has also agreed to provide qualified Settlement Class Members up to $3.5 million in Non-Cash Benefits. Sprint Nextel also has agreed to not insert a flat-rate ETF provision into its customer service agreements for personal wireless service in the United States for 24 months. Sprint Nextel customer agreements initiated after November 3, 2008 have pro-rated ETFs, and the settlement does not require Sprint Nextel to modify those contracts.

The settlement will release claims that customers may have against Sprint Nextel relating to its flat-rate ETFs and term contracts, unless the individual excludes him/her self from the settlement.
